

The site of "Doctors for Afghanistan" is great for educating the young Afghani medical professionals and helps to provide them with the means to improve their level of medical knowledge and expertise. This website has been created with tireless efforts of doctors like Dr. Oria and Dr. Babury among others that have dedicated countless hours of their private time, and at times their own finances, to create and contribute numerous challenging cases and didactic lectures. Also international lecturers, like Dr. Fisher, participated in contributing to this site by providing access to their publications and lecture services. Also this site has great assets of many textbooks in medicine. More importantly, this website has been visited by people from all over the world who share the same love and passion to help the people of Afghanistan for better healthcare. I am honored to participate in this great humanistic effort on my behalf in the field of Infectious Disease and I owe this opportunity to Dr. Oria and Dr. Babury for which I am thankful for. God bless.

Dr. Farshad Bagheri, MD, Department of Infectious Disease, Jamaica Hospital, New York
